A general system of gardening and botany
Founded upon Miller s Gardener s dictionary, and arranged according to the natural system

by George Don

A general system of gardening and botany, founded upon Miller s Gardener s dictionary, and arranged according to the natural system, by George Don. This work was published in 1831 and it is a comprehensive reference on gardening and botany, written by Philip Miller and further developed by George Don. The book contains a complete enumeration of natural systems and a glossary of terms, and it is arranged according to the natural system. It provides descriptions of the different orders, the whole arranged according to the natural system. The work is a valuable resource for gardeners and botanists, and it remains popular today as a standard reference in the field of gardening and botany.