Evil

by Richard O Brien

The Evil (1978) - IMDb

The Evil (1978) is a horror film directed by Gus Trikonis and released in 1978. The film stars Richard Crenna, Joanna Pettet, Andrew Prine, and Cassie Yates. A group of friends rents a dilapidated mansion in the woods for a weekend getaway, unaware that the house is inhabited by evil spirits. The house is cursed by a witch who was burned at the stake for being a witch in the 17th century. The group becomes trapped in the house and must face their deepest fears and darkest secrets. The film explores themes of guilt, redemption, and the power of evil.

The film was produced by Pineapple Pictures, directed by Gus Trikonis, and written by Richard Crenna and P.J. Soles. The film's music was composed by Jack Nitzsche. The Evil was released in 1978 and received mixed reviews. However, it has since become a cult classic and is considered a classic horror film.

The Evil is a cautionary tale about the dangers of ignoring the past and the consequences of one's actions. It serves as a warning about the power of evil and the importance of facing our fears and our past mistakes.

The film's special effects were created by Tokyo, Japan-based Special Effects Company, which was responsible for the鬼屋的特效 at the request of the director. The company was founded by special effects artist Tony Gardner, who had previously worked on films such as The Rocky Horror Picture Show and The Hunger. The company's work on The Evil was highly praised, with many critics praising the film's special effects as some of the best in the industry at the time.

The Evil was released on DVD in 2009 by Nightlock Entertainment and is available on various streaming platforms. The film is a must-watch for horror fans and is considered a classic in the genre.